

FEELING THAT TURNING POINT IN BATTLE WILL NOT BE REACHED UNTIL ONE OF ARMIES IS OUTFLANKED

Belgium, True to Allies' Refuse All Terms for Armistice

London, Sept. 21. (4:30 p.m.)—In a despatch from Antwerp, the correspondent of the Central News declares that the armistice proposal made some days ago by Germany to Belgium, provided the German occupation of all Belgian towns should be immediately resumed by Belgium and the German occupation of these towns be discontinued on condition that communication with the Germans in France be not interfered with.

Belgium, true to allies' refusal all terms for armistice. The enemy's attempts to cross the Drina have failed, it is stated. Medical stores and provisions seized. Montenegro army said to be within ten miles of Bosnian Capital.

London, Sept. 21.—A correspondent of Times writes the following from the front: "The great battle draws to a close. Exhaustion rather than shot has brought a terrible peace along the river. A peace which may be expected of the last few days leads us to believe may be the herald of victory. That, at least, is how I read the situation."

Desperate Effort by Both Armies to Carry Out Turning Movement

IN A COLD STEEL STRUGGLE ALLIES PROVE THE BETTER

STILL THOUGHT ENEMY IS PREPARING RETREAT

London, Sept. 21.—(10.20 p.m.)—While the fortunes of battle fluctuate between the lines along the center of the extended front in France, desperate efforts are being made to execute turning movements on both flanks.

The Anglo-French left wing is exerting every ounce of strength to turn the flank of the German, General Von Kluck, who is reported as having received heavy reinforcements, while the German left according to a cautiously worded announcement from Berlin is making equally vigorous efforts to outflank the French right resting on Verdun.

Under ordinary weather conditions the Anglo-French task would be the easier for the reason that Verdun, heavily fortified, would constitute a French right flank as seriously threatened, but on the German right the heavy rains have not only softened the valley of the Oise that the allies are hardly likely to move along what would be their natural course until the German front north of Soissons had been driven back. The high ground between Nevon and Chateau de Heims has been heavily fortified by General Von Kluck and it dominates the whole valley of the Oise.

That the Germans close their present defensive position is indicated by the fact that their heavy artillery rests on cement foundations.

Strategy May Be Futile.

Some reports received in London declared that the reason for the desperate German counter attacks on Rheims is found in a movement of the allies which has virtually isolated Rheims from Lun, a town 30 miles to the northwest. If this is true, all of General Von Kluck's marvelous strategy in protecting his sorely pressed left flank will have proved futile.

How or less difficult the allies continue to execute in London to the effect that the Germans are preparing a great retreat from France and that the battle front is being shifted to the west. The latest of these is a story relayed by a French officer who has returned from the front. The Frenchman declares that an aeroplane reconnaissance has given rise to the conviction that a large part of the German forces is relying, accompanied by heavy horse, and leaving only 20,000 men to cover the retreat.

One reason for the death of men from the battle front is to be found in the bad weather which makes ordinary signalling and aeroplane scouting unreliable. Stories now flying through the front that the German make desperate efforts the middle of last week to recapture the ground they had lost along the river Somme. Day and night the assaults continued. The Germans placed into action by bands of men on the heavily constructed embankments where the allies had dug themselves in as a protection against the pitiless artillery cascades on the heights above them. It was estimated that the allies, holding their desperately won position.

Object of Counter-attack. Rheims where the ruins of the famous cathedral are still standing is likely to prove an object of controversy long after the military forces have been driven from the region. The Germans claim that the cathedral was in the line of fire and that it was impossible to save it in spite of their instructions to spare the building.

As had been anticipated, a check has been given to the operations of the victorious Russians in the east, the strong fortress of Przemyel, which has caused the Russian army experts to according to intelligence of the struggle, the German army experts to enter Sarajevo within a week.

Paris, Sept. 21.—The little change in the situation in the last official announcement. The German left of the allied forces continue to bear the brunt of the fighting, and at one time Saturday the German official report did not bring out the time clearly, the German in a furious counter attack pushed some miles back, however, was speedily repelled. Elsewhere along the bad battlefield, successes of one side have been counterbalanced by forward moves of the other. The German army experts here claim the allies have bettered the position as far as it affects the continuation of the struggle since they have reached and entrenched themselves on high ground. The last opinion, however, in clines to the belief that the frontal attacks of forces, both apparently of equal strength, will continue for some time yet without result unless something unforeseen happens.

Cause of Bitter Comment. The havoc wrought in the famous cathedral of Rheims by the German guns, as told in official dispatches from the front, is the subject of bitter comment here. It is stated that the French government will lodge a protest with all the powers regarding the bombardment of the cathedral, which unofficial dispatches say was shattering German wounded and flying a red cross flag.

Copies of letters said to have been found on German prisoners continue to be made public here. One credited to a Brunswick non-commissioned officer reads:

"Our life is not a gay one. For nine years we have camped in water and we are living on beet and sugar. Bread is a luxury. The tension is mental and our losses are enormous. There is not a single officer left in my company, which has been reduced from 200 to 50 men."

Other letters of a similar tenor are given out and wonder is expressed at the German commander's remarks. They have still the courage to fight with such desperation, especially under the most trying weather conditions.

JUPITER PLAYS MAY HELP ALLIES IF ENEMY ROUTED

Impossible to Take Artillery Over Heavy Roads in Vicinity of Rheims.

Chateau Sur Marne, Sept. 21.—(1.20 p.m.)—The German commander is bombarding the principal buildings of Rheims at night. The allies have received the news with interest and made several imitations counter movements, their infantry charged with magnificent but in vain, regardless of the terrible storm of shrapnel.

The first rain suffered terribly, but as the men fell others rushed up to take their places, and when the enemy's lines were reached there were found to be no reserves. The struggle here was a desperate one, and after the retirement of the Germans, Rheims was found from beyond beyond with their hands clasped in such vice-like grips around the necks of an aeroplane that they were literally ripped apart.

The Germans, it is declared, seem to be desperate in their attack and are urged at the stubborn resistance of the French. The Germans, they say, had all the best of the position at the opening of the battle, but the situation is now changed and the French are able to gain positions on high ground that will enable them to fight on even terms and, they believe, to break their line at Rheims. Soldiers are coming back here covered with mud and blood. They are saying that it will be impossible for a retreating army to get away with its artillery. To this fact the allies attribute the deposition with which the Germans are being treated.

Breaks caused by the rains are likely to impede the military operations, especially in the district where the Germans have been able to gain positions on high ground. The river Sauerbrunn already is out of its banks and some installations are isolated. While receiving a family, M. Goublet, the administrator of Belfort, was seriously injured. He was mentioned in the order of the day for bravery by the general in command.

GERMANS ORDERED NOT TO LOOT CHAMPAGNE AS THEY WILL ANNEX IT

London, Sept. 21.—A despatch to the daily Mail from Paris says: "From a large number of the French districts which were occupied by the German, the local authorities did and several periods and misadventures and may have been relieved of their offices for failing to do their duty. The Germans treat with a property constituted body when they enter a town."

Describing the occupation of Epernay, the center of the Champagne district, the correspondent says: "The German army is not to loot the Champagne country. It was intended to be, to annex it. The German staff requisitioned 200 tons of wine and paid for them in notes of various denominations from the town, including a fine of 2,000 pounds (about $3,000). As the French retire, the general sent for the mayor and returned the money in consideration of the care that had been taken by the mayor's hospitals to the German wounded."

GERMAN LINES ALTHOUGH STRONG ARE NOW PIERCED

(By G. H. Periss.)

Paris, Sept. 21.—For several days the French communications have all pointed in more than a slow and difficult progress along the line of the Alsace, but the points named show that masterly strategy has already produced very notable results, which cannot be denied.

It may be assumed that the western triangle of Nevon, Compiègne and Vise is now in the hands of the allies. The German positions remain very strong, but they have been pierced, and the points named show that masterly strategy has already produced very notable results, which cannot be denied.

Rich, briefly, is the scene of the battle, which today rages in magnitude and horror. It is also in the hands of the allies. The German positions remain very strong, but they have been pierced, and the points named show that masterly strategy has already produced very notable results, which cannot be denied.

Another section here is pierced. The Germans have been forced to close their artillery positions and to strengthen themselves, strongly, in the support of their position. Some advantage from west reinforcements of some outlying French fortifications.

The allies emerged from the hills at Ferry d'Alsace, and the French are looking for them from beyond beyond with their hands clasped in such vice-like grips around the necks of an aeroplane that they were literally ripped apart.

We have already seen that the allies crossed the Alsace at Compiègne and other points have also reached the German lines. The German positions remain very strong, but they have been pierced, and the points named show that masterly strategy has already produced very notable results, which cannot be denied.

Without military reason cathedral reims destroyed

Paris, Sept. 21.—Saturday night the French official contained the following sentence:

"The Germans who despite extremely heavy attacks had not been driven from the last ground before Rheims, have been bombing the cathedral of Rheims."

Sunday afternoon official note adds: "The Germans are persisting with military reason in firing on the cathedral which is in flames." This news will be received with only one thought: France will throughout the degraded world with a thrill of disgust and indignation. The cathedral of Rheims is one of the first glories of European architecture. The wonderful work of the thirteenth century with its three portals containing more than 100 statues of sculptural beauty and lines of France and great rose window has been degraded as the most beautiful structure produced by human hands. The cathedral is a masterpiece of architecture, valuable tapestry, church plate and silver vessels, besides its superb old windows.

ALBERTA IS STILL DOING VERY MUCH BUSINESS THANKS

Companies Incorporated This Month Include Five-Million-Dollar Calgary Oil Concern

CALIFORNIA TOOL FIRM ALSO WILL COME HERE

Oil development is playing a large part in the prospective commercial world of Alberta, according to the companies formed under the laws of the province during the past two weeks and also those from other parts which have, during the same time, applied for the right to do business here.

Of all the new companies formed, particulars of which are published in the current issue of the Alberta Gazette, the largest is an oil concern, the Canadian Consolidated Oil, limited, of Calgary, whose authorized capitalization is $5,000,000. Incorporated in the Northern Oil, limited, with $1,000,000 capital, also of Calgary, and the Canadian Consolidated Oil, limited, with $1,000,000 capital, also of Calgary.

Other companies were formed as follows: A. F. Miller Hardware company, limited, of Edmonton, with $25,000; Western Canada Company, limited, of Calgary, with $25,000; T. J. Farney Tool company, limited, of Edmonton, with $25,000; Ontario Hardware, limited, of Calgary, with $25,000; Vegetable Drug and Food company, limited, of Calgary, with $25,000.

Certificates of registration were issued to the following outside companies: Canadian West Limited, limited, of Regina, with $25,000; T. J. Farney Tool company, limited, of Edmonton, with $25,000; Universal Land Security company, limited, of Saskatoon, with $25,000; Western Canadian Hardware company, limited, of Calgary, with $25,000; Alberta Hardware and Shoe and Dry Goods company, limited, of Calgary, with $25,000.

UNITED OIL WELL LIKELY COMING IN

Now Making Good Showing—Another Hundred Feet Expected to Produce.

According to statements brought to the attention of the United Oil company, which is the most prominent of the new companies formed, there is a very good feeling in Calgary, among those who should know, that this well will produce a large amount of oil within a very short time and of a quality that will find a ready market. The United Oil company is the only company of the kind in the province, and the quality of the oil is such that it can be used for all purposes. The well is now at a depth of 2,500 feet, and it is expected that it will produce a large amount of oil within a very short time.

Retain Makes the Roads Practically Impassable

Teuton's Heavy Artillery Plays Havoc With French and English.

"The bulk of the fighting on the line held by General French's command has been done in entrenchments where there are woods that afford cover on every hill. Consequently it has been for the most part an artillery battle. The German positions were evidently chosen long ago and the work of the allies has been to destroy them. The German command has been turned away from Paris. One indication to support this view is the fact that most of the German heavy artillery is planted in concrete foundations which would require several days to ret and in artillery."

"So far the Germans have had the advantage in heavy artillery, but the allies have been able to get their large guns which were mounted in concrete emplacements and French guns which have been hurled to the front. There are probably now in action and the allies will soon be superior in artillery."

WHO TRIUMPHS IN THIS WAR? AND WHO IN THE NEXT?

At a conservative estimate the present war will cost a million lives. It may cost more than double that if it stretches out into a number of years and involves other nations. Already the various authorities appear afraid to give even an approximate list of the fatalities, but it is quite safe to say that in France, Austria, Poland and Serbia, the four great theatres of war so far, the fatalities to date have been not less than half a million. Besides the slain, there will be a million or two badly injured that their productive powers will be greatly curtailed if not completely destroyed. Added to this the cost of the war in wealth burned up in armament, ammunition and the destruction of property, to say nothing of the loss of ten million or so of men, will run into the thousands of millions.

All these together constitute liabilities which the nations of the world, most especially the losing nations, will have to assume at the close of the war. Those dead leave behind countless dependents whose maintenance inevitably falls upon the country in one form or another. Those maimed must be kept by the country in some manner. The worn out armament and the burned up ammunition represents that much money for which the countries have already been bonded, and the cities destroyed, fields ravaged and farmsteads razed represent not only the direct loss of money entailed but the loss to the countries involved of the productiveness of these until they have been replaced and put in order again. Already the war debts of these countries are staggering.

With the exception of Russia, not one of the countries involved is as large as the province of Alberta. Germany, for instance, with her 67,000,000 population, has only 208,000 square miles; Austria, Hungary, with her 51,000,000, has 260,000, but a large part of it is mountainous and not susceptible to development as we understand the term. France, with her 40,000,000, has 206,000 square miles, and little Belgium, the country hardest hit of all so far, maintains her 7,500,000 population on an area of only 11,370 square miles. Serbia, with 3,000,000 population previous to her first war, has 18,645 square miles, but Serbia's area is largely taken up with land not susceptible to cultivation, while Italy, with 34,500,000 on 110,000 square miles, an area about the size of that part of Alberta lying to the west of the north and south railways systems of the C.P.R. and the Waterways.

With the exceptions of Austria, Serbia and Russia, these nations all have large colonial possessions, but only in the case of Great Britain can any of the colonies be counted upon to accept any part of the cost incurred, and in no case can the colonies of any of the European nations be counted upon to accept any part of the debts incurred by the war. Germany, French and Italian colonies, for instance, are a constant source of expense even in times of peace, all having squandered millions upon millions in the attempt to mimic Britain in the establishment of colonies. In fact, it may be said that Germany's Togoland was almost the only colonial possession held by any European country which was not dependent for the maintenance of administration upon an annual remittance from the home government; and Togoland is now cut away from Germany. What would happen in the event of the European powers attempting to reverse the process and exact a tax from the colonies has already been pretty clearly demonstrated in Britain's experience in North America and Spain's experience in South America and the Antilles.

When at the finish, Austria, for instance, with the trans-Carpathian country, and quite probably Bohemia, the Tyrol and the Adriatic possession of Bosnia, Croatia, Dalmatia and Coastland cut off, reducing her population by one half and her area by more than one half, is called upon to face, in addition to her present debt of $3,615,000,000, her own cost of the present war and quite probably a tremendous indemnity to Russia, Serbia and Italy besides, not to mention the claims that may be established by France and Britain, what is the outcome for Austria? Or figured in another way, what is the outcome of a country like Austria when, with a total foreign trade of only $1,300,000,000, she is called upon to more than double her debt with half the territory?

Any such illustration applicable to Austria is quite as applicable to Germany in case of indisputable defeat.

Manifestly, there is a limit to which human endurance in the meeting of taxation can go. The outcome must be repudiation, either violently, through revolution, or passively, through sheer inability to pay. The country with a million dead, a million cripples and her wealth burned up to the last available dollar, can scarcely do otherwise than default.

But national debts are obligations owed by nations to individuals. The countries having among their citizens the greatest number of these individuals holding bonds of foreign countries are Great Britain and France. Statistics to show what is the aggregate of the Austrian and German bonds held in Paris and London are naturally sheer guess work, but it is a well-known fact that this has been considered excellent strategy by the Teutons for years and the total must be large. By smashing Austria and Germany, France and Britain hit the pockets of their own men of wealth.

Meanwhile, there is Russia as an actor in the great tragedy. With 7,771,649 square miles stretching from the Black sea, the Caspian, the Himalayas, Tibet and Mongolia to the Arctic, and from the Baltic to the Pacific, she has the largest solid block of territory held by any one power on the globe. Her land lies principally in the fruitful north temperate zone and her population of 168,000,000 is the most nearly homogeneous of that of any empire of equal or greater number except India and China. Russia has the second largest national debt, $4,500,000,000, but with only a fraction of her territory worked she is the greatest wheat producer in the world, and her timber, mineral and fishing resources have, comparatively, been scarcely touched. Furthermore, it may be safely presumed that the amount of the bonds of Germany and Austria held in St. Petersburg is insignificant. Her recuperative possibilities are manifold.

Figuring it out purely "on form," as the race track men express it, who triumphs in this war? And who wins the next?

MAYENCE PROPHECY MADE IN 1854 HAS COME TRUE SO FAR

Predicts Prussian and Austrian Annihilation in War Now Going On.

There is in Germany a famous prophecy. It is called "The Prophecy of Mayence." It was made in 1854. It comprises 18 verses of prediction, of which the first nine have been fulfilled in this remarkable manner. Here are the verses:

"1—When the little people of the order shall feel themselves strong enough to shake off the yoke of their protector, and when the barley is growing in the ears, their King William shall march against Austria."

"2—They will have victory upon the field of victory; and the barley shall not be gathered in until he has signed the peace, shaken off the yoke and returned triumphantly to his country."

"3—But at the gathering in of the fourth barley and that of the east a dreadful sound of war shall call the harvesters to arms. A formidable army, followed by an extraordinary number of engines of war that shall alone could have invested, shall start towards the west."

"4—Woe to thee, great Austria, woe to you who have abandoned the sacred divine and human. The end of battles has forsaken you, who will succor you."

"5—Napoleon III., knowing his adversary at first, shall soon turn back towards the "Chene-Breton" where he shall disappear never to reappear."

"6—in spite of the heroic resistance of France, a multitude of soldiers, blue, yellow and black, shall scatter themselves over a great part of France."

"7—Austria and Prussia shall be carried away from France for a period and half a period."

"8—The French shall only take courage again as against each other. Woe to thee, great Prussia, woe to thee, city of Berlin. The end shall succeed fire and famine."

"9—Courage, faithful souls, the reign of the dark shadow shall not have time to execute all its schemes."

"10—But the time of sorrow and of pain is over. A price of the nation is in your midst."

"11—It is the man of salvation, the wise, the invincible, he shall come to the aid of his country."

"12—He shall drive out the enemy of France, he shall march to victory on victory until the day of divine justice."

"13—That day he shall command seven kinds of soldiers, against three to the quarter of the east, between the Harz and the Paderborn."

"14—Woe to thee, people of the north, the seventh generation shall answer for all thy crimes. Woe to thee, people of the east, thou shalt spread before the crime of thy fathers, because thou shalt have no army but a sea."

"15—The sun shall rise upwards on the heads of the combatants without seen through the clouds of the day."

"16—The commander shall get the victory, two of his enemies shall be smitten, the third shall be taken, the third shall fly towards the extreme east."

"17—William, the second of the name, shall be the last King of Prussia. He shall have an other successor save a King of Prussia, a King of Hanover, and a King of Saxony."

All the first part of this prophecy up to the sixth verse inclusive, is verified by the war of 1866, then by that of 1870, and then by the commune of 1871. Here are the last nine verses.

"18—Courage, French patriots, Germany cannot carry out its schemes of supremacy."

"19—The time of retaliation approaches. The Tsar shall come in the midst of you, he shall answer for all his crimes. That is the man of salvation."

"20—He shall chase the enemy of Prussia, he shall conquer Germany until it is completely destroyed."

"21—The last battle on the field of Bismarck, in Eastphalia, shall reunite seven allied peoples (English, Belgians, English, Dutch, Russians, Germans, and Serbians) against three (Prussians, Austrians and Hungarians)."

"22—Woe to thee, Prussia, thy seventh generation shall answer for the sins thou hast made upon all the people. Seven generations make 21 years plus 7, or 210 years. The realm of Prussia dates from 1713. The seventh century is then, living, between 1853 and 1923. Woe to thee, Austria! Never shall a battle shall have taken place."

"25—William II. shall be the last King of Prussia. Germany and Austria shall be smitten, the third shall be taken, the third shall fly towards the extreme east."

The British army is at present engaged in an expedition, the prophecy of Mayence is a triumphal fulfillment."

VIOLENT SCENES OCCUR OUTSIDE THE AUSTRIAN MINISTRY WAR OFFICE

London, Sept. 22—(4:05 a.m.)—In a despatch from Rome, the correspondent of the "Evening Telegraph" says advice have been received from Vienna describing violent scenes, said to have occurred last Thursday outside the Austrian ministry of war. All the windows in this building were broken. Dr. Zelt, a Vienna newspaper, declares that the holy synod of Petrograd has proclaimed a religious war against Germany and Austria.

A PROPHECY

Count Tolstoi's Prophetic Words a Few Hours Before His Death

"This is a revelation of events of a spiritual character, which must shortly come to pass. Their universal outlines are now before my eyes. I see floating upon the surface of the sea of human fate the huge silhouette of a nude woman. She is—with her beauty, her poise, her smile, her jewels—a super-Venus. Nations rush madly after her, each of them eager to attract her especially. But she, like an eternal courtesan, flirts with all. In her hair ornaments of diamonds and rubies is engraved her name, 'Commercialism.' As alluring and as bewitching as she seems, much destruction and agony follow in her wake."

"And behold, she has three gigantic arms with three torches of universal corruption in her hand. The first torch represents the flame of war, the second torch bears the flame of bigotry and hypocrisy, and the third torch is that of the law."

"The great conflagration will start about 1912, set by torch of the first arm in the countries of Southeastern Europe. It will develop into a destructive calamity in 1913. In that year I see all Europe in flames and bleeding. I hear the lamentations of huge battlefields. But about the year 1915 a strange figure from the North—a new Napoleon—enters the stage of the bloody drama. He is a man of little military training, a writer or journalist, but in his grip most of Europe will remain till 1925."

"The end of the great calamity will mark a new political era for the old world. There will be left no empires or kingdoms, but the world will form a federation of the United States of Nations. There will remain only four great giants—the Anglo-Saxons, the Latins, the Slavs and the Mongolians."

OUR WAR ATLAS.

This is the most complete and attractive atlas in print. The size is 12 by 16 inches. The cover is in full colors and very attractive, showing the flags of nations at war and a beautiful small round map of the world in colors. Inside are large clear, beautifully colored, 50 by 20 inch maps of Europe and the World and smaller half page maps of Britain, Russia, Germany, Austria, Balkan States and France. These maps are in full colors. There are eight pages of splendid halftones and text. The pictures are all taken from a private collection of photographs which show the very latest pictures of the armies, navies, airships and leaders of all the nations at war. This collection of pictures is a wonderful addition to the atlas and is exclusively our own.

NO COLLAPSIBLE BOATS

Can Launch Lifeboats And Close Watertight Bulkheads Simultaneously

When the twin-screw steamer "Missanable" launched last June from the yards of Barclay Curie and Company, limited, of Whitehead, Canada, the Canadian Pacific will have added to its fleet of steamers, one of the last word in ocean vessels from the standpoint of comfort and convenience for passengers, strength and stability for navigation, and capacity and appliances for cargo. The new vessel is 520 feet long, 54 feet beam and 41 feet deep. It has a gross tonnage of 12,000 tons, a displacement of 18,000 tons and a cargo capacity of 20,000 cubic feet. Below the level of the main deck the space is devoted to general cargo, three of the lower decks being fitted for the carrying of refrigerated merchandise. From the main deck upwards, through less than six separate decks, the space is devoted to passengers. There is room for 250 passengers and for 1,200 third-class passengers, all in large rooms. Counting in the crew the vessel will therefore be fitted to carry 2,020 or as much as the population of a small town.

Decorations Are Georgian
Although a "one-cabin" boat every effort has been made to give it the appearance of a second to none, and the dining-room, card-room, drawing-room, lounge, cafe, symphony and other features of the most modern vessels are furnished and decorated in accordance with the plans of the latest architectural and furnishing. The decoration is of the Georgian period. The hospital and the cultural departments are commodious and admirably designed for the work intended for each.

No Collapsible Lifeboats
The decks are expected to provide one of the chief features of the vessel. The promenade, recreation and other decks are being designed so as to provide shelter, amusement and rest, according to the caprice of the passenger. The boat deck is entirely self-aided for the launching of lifeboats. 32 lifeboats, including a motor lifeboat being carried. The launching arrangements, including the motor device to meet contingencies not anticipated under ordinary conditions, are complete and humanely constructed. Chief among these is a mechanical contrivance which allows the boat to be launched through the vessel might have a considerable list. The deck is fitted with a hydraulic device to launch the lifeboats from the side of the vessel. It is possible to launch the lifeboats from the side of the vessel, and all being fitted, open lifeboats, and apply sufficient force and pressure to launch them.

Heating and Ventilating
There is a new departure, as well as the system of providing heat and air for every part of the vessel. The electric lighting system provides for 1,200 lights, and the power operates fans, elevators, boiler's signalling, printing, submarine signalling and galley outfit. All ventilating and heat heads are electrically operated and can be closed simultaneously from the bridge. The vessel is fitted with the well-known electric fan, which builds up a strong draught, and is so arranged and directed. It is so arranged that it can be directed to any part of the vessel, and is so arranged that it can be directed to any part of the vessel, and is so arranged that it can be directed to any part of the vessel.

GERMANS SUFFERING FROM WANT OF FOOD
Bordeaux, Sept. 21.—A number of letters written by German soldiers which have fallen into the hands of the French, speak of the great hardships which the invading troops have undergone. All refer to the terrible losses sustained by the Germans.

A German engineer, writing under date of Sept. 11, says: "I am suffering terrible hunger. I eat only a small amount of bread in rich days."

A German soldier writing from the front of the Marne said that his work he had lived on raw beef, roots and sugar. He declared that the French fire was the most effective effect. Out of his company of 250 men only 50 were left. He saw no solution of the problem. He said his company had received no reinforcements.

Other writers said that they had no bread but plenty of wine.

SWITZERLAND TO ASK INDEMNITY AFTER WAR

Berne, Switzerland, (via Paris) Sept. 21.—Although the extreme measures which were adopted during the first weeks after the war began have relieved Switzerland, it is still under the pressure of mobilization. This is the financial resources of the government as it is now spending 1,400,000 francs (280,000 dollars) daily. It is said that Switzerland intends to ask for an indemnity at the end of the war, owing to the damage of manufacturing and industries.

GERMAN PRISONERS' AWFUL EXPERIENCES

Many Regiments Have Lost all Their Officers, It is Stated.

FIGHT ALL DAY, NO FOOD

In Engagements From Five in the Morning Until Eight at Night.

Bordeaux, Sept. 21.—(20 a.m.)—There has been given out officially information concerning incidents of the fighting and personal experiences, furnished by German prisoners, obtained from documents captured by French troops. The information relates particularly to the fighting around Rheims between September 11 and 16.

A German artillery officer writes: "Companies of 250 men in the trench army corps have been reduced to 70 men and there are companies of the same size in the trench army corps. All refer to the terrible losses sustained by the Germans."

A German engineer, writing under date of Sept. 11, says: "I am suffering terrible hunger. I eat only a small amount of bread in rich days."

A German soldier writing from the front of the Marne said that his work he had lived on raw beef, roots and sugar. He declared that the French fire was the most effective effect. Winnipeg Scribe, Jailed for Few Hours, Would Have Officer Arrested.

Winnipeg, Sept. 21.—A warrant was made out Saturday for the arrest of Major W. Lawless, district staff adjutant of military district No. 1, and placed for execution in the hands of Chief Elliott of the provincial police, who is in the city on a visit.

Major Lawless, however, had left for Vancouver, and the warrant could be served. False imprisonment is charged by Magistrate against Major Lawless, who, in the absence of Colonel Steele at Vancouver, was in temporary command of the district. Major Lawless was arrested yesterday morning by Lieutenant Stoneham, of the 24th Fort Garry Horse, and taken to Fort Osborne barracks, where he was interrogated as to an article he had published commenting on conditions at Vancouver, and on Col. Hughes' administration. The article in question, according to the Winnipeg Free Press, is more foolish than hurtful, and it is thought that the newspaper might be made a mistake by this bringing into prominence an article which in the ordinary way would have passed unnoticed.

At the barracks Magne was held for about an hour, and then released, undertaking to refrain from discussing conditions at Vancouver until further notice. Magne was then released, and for a moment considered the promise binding, as it was forced from him while in distress and under serious protest. As to the warrant, although Magne says efforts will be made to have it served on Major Lawless en route or at Vancouver, this cannot be legally done, as that officer is now on active service, and a civil warrant cannot be served on him.

Magne also claims that while he was at the barracks a file of soldiers called at his office and took away papers belonging to him, including the subscription list, which he says cannot be replaced, and that all papers were seized and taken up by the soldiers remaining unsorted.

Work Starts in Winnipeg
Winnipeg, Sept. 21.—(11 a.m.)—Montague, minister of public works, has announced that the work on the new railway and building work will get away without uttering a single word.

Not One Word?
London, Sept. 21.—A despatch to the Times from Beacons says that the German emperor witnessed the assault on Nancy and when it failed was away without uttering a single word.

EDMONTON RUGBY TEAMS COMMENCE PRACTICING FOR FOOTBALL SEASON

Eskimos, Varsity and Civic All Out on Saturday for Workouts—Eskimos Will Practice Again Today at Five O'Clock Varsity Players Will Lumber up on Campus at 4.30 p.m.

Saturday was what was really the beginning of the rugby season when three of the city teams began earnest practice. The Eskimos, Civic and Varsity all lathering up.

The Eskimos were out on Diamond park in force, it was being in uniform. Besides efforts who cleared the field of their own making. Deacon White had them in charge, and put them through some strenuous work, after they had lathered up for putting the pack on annual for an hour.

There was some promising material at Varsity, with plenty of practice, would develop into a good team. A number of last year's champions, Tommy Dykes, Baumgartner, Donoherty and McLaughlin. McLaughlin is an old full back, and was for some time one of the right backs of that college.

Donoherty, a member of the heavy weight class, looks as though he might be able to do something at the same time, and besides, having a fine physique is in the pink of condition.

The Eskimos will have another workout today, commencing at five o'clock, with Deacon White in charge.

COAST TEAMS PLAY EXHIBITION GAME FOR RELIEF WORK

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 21.—After weeks of idleness the Vancouver and New Westminster professional lacrosse teams jumped back into the game on Saturday, playing in aid of the relief fund. The exhibitors proved to be in better condition and on the heavy field easily outplayed the Vancouver, winning by a score of 5 goals to 3. The teams may play again next week. Griffiths, Hines, Allen and Archie Adamson, of the Vancouver club, are on their way to the relief fund.

OFFER TO PITCH EVERY THIRD DAY

Mathewson and Tesreau Want To Do Most of Twirling.

Realizing that something must be done quickly if the Giants are to overcome the Boston Braves' lead and parade to a fourth consecutive pennant, Christopher Mathewson and Charles W. Tesreau called upon John J. McGraw and offered to pitch every third day from now until the end of the season.

They have been working on an average of every fourth day right along, but both pitchers told the manager they were perfectly willing to shoulder

Nations at war apparently may violate international law with impunity, there being no adequate police force to see that the law is obeyed—Chicago Herald.

The extra work if he thinks it will help the Giants to climb to the top.

Demerco and Marquard are going to pitch to be depended upon at a time like this, when every game counts for so much.

Whether McGraw will accept this proposition cannot be said now, for he has not made up his mind, but it shows how anxious the players are to get into another world series.

The pitchers realize it is up to them to get back quickly or it will be too late, and the Braves will wander into the autumn mix-up with the Athletics.

RANELAGH POLO PLAYER VICTIM GREAT STRUGGLE

London, Sept. 21.—Captain R. N. Grenfell, the well known polo player of the Buckingham Yeomanry, attached to the Sixth Lancers, was among the officers killed in action in France. His name appears on the list under date Sept. 10, issued by the war office.

The list also contains the names of Captain Lena Gurney, of the Irish guards and Captain Lord A. M. Macdonald, of the Irish Guards. Lord A. M. Macdonald, of the general staff, died of his wounds.

The names are given of officers killed 46 wounded, one was killed of wounds and one missing.

Captain R. N. Grenfell and his brother, Captain Francis Grenfell, both of the Hurlingham team, which was to have played the United States team for the International polo cup.

An accident to Captain R. N. Grenfell, however, caused a postponement of the international match.

As members of the Hurlingham team, the brothers played that year the tournament of the Point to Point Club, and it was R. N. Grenfell's brother who won the first of the open championship tournaments.

He made a further effort to destroy the French wireless station. No damage was inflicted on the station. Belgium Towns Escorted.

Bulletin—Antwerp, Sept. 21.—(Via London, 2:30 p.m.) A photograph reports that the Belgian Government and Londoners have been ordered to leave the city. This is the first time these places have been free of invaders since the removal of the Belgian capital from Brussels to Antwerp. The street lamps of Antwerp are lighted every evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

OLD COUNTRY FOOTBALL

Saturday's games in the old country began furnished several surprises. Sheffield Wednesday leaders of the first league went down to defeat at the hands of Liverpool, 2 to 1. Only two home teams were defeated in the first division.

In the Scottish league Hearts enhanced their position by defeating the Rangers, who are considered dangerous opponents. This will give Hearts a finer hold on first place.
